Positive discipline that focuses on a positive point of behavior most of the time it focuses on the idea that there are no bad children they can mold their attitude and a more effective way to misbehaving students in the classroom rather than punishment or rewards.

It is the most effective method to eliminate unwanted behavior and in dealing with the students that are misbehaving in the classroom is to use positive discipline. It can help shape the child by using encouragement approach rather than punishment. As a teacher using this approach really helps us to enable to have a harmonious relationship between the students and teacher or parent to pupil relationship as well. Using this kind of approach benefited to overcome many challenges as a classroom teacher it can increase academic performance as well as success in social environment of the child.

In survey it mainly affects the child behavior in terms of negative results such as aggression and child delinquency and against social and emotional behavior. It also associated to lower self confidence and resulting to poor performance in school. In building a healthy relationship a positive reinforcement were given like giving rewards program in order to discourage the wrong way of behavior.

As much as possible DepEd encouraged that teachers thinks of other ways to teach children on how to manage their emotions and resolve their conflicts without hurting them physically and emotionally and to helped them in a positive way of approach.
In practicing positive discipline it involves holistic positive approach in a respectful and caring way to provide a well manage classroom behavior and school environment.
