The English Language is the primary language of several countries, and a second language for some other countries. Language can help people to communicate others. English language teachers are using different strategies to teach English as easy as they can.

During in my first of teaching, I observed that some of the teachers are having fun during the discussion and I think that is the secret why the students easily understand the topic. In my case one of them, I will absorb what that teacher did and as an additional, I will also use the strategies that I’ve learned. Techniques for me are the easiest way of teaching the English language. First need to love the English language then teaches your students to love the English language so you can easily impart knowledge. Then apply the different techniques that suit the needs of the learners. With these, the students can be able to improve their ability in terms of vocabulary. Bridging is about establishing the link between the students’ prior knowledge and the material while compare and contrast in making plans to teach English subjects. In contextualization, unknown concepts will be familiarizing through direct experience. Students created drawings; video and games are under his text representations. In modeling, the teacher must speak slowly and clearly and make sure that the students really understand the topic.

Teaching, English is not that easy, but all things can be easy as long as you enjoy it or you love what you’re doing.
