ADVANTAGES OF HOME SCHOOLING

by:
Sylvia B. Atanacio
Master Teacher II, Orani North Elementary School

Now that going out is risky to the health of each learner, home schooling is being suggested. This is a good method of making education safe and accessible.

Home schooling is teaching the learners in their own house premises. This is safer and more convenient.

Home schooling is also a way for the parents to usually check the education of their children. Thus, they will guide their children in quest for knowledge.

Home schooling is easier for the students since they enjoy education within their reach and they would easily avail of their needs for studies.

Home schooling is a better way to secure the concentration of the learners. They are able to follow instructions for they know that the teacher and parents are monitoring them.

Home schooling also has a better access to more materials for the teacher and parents provide the learners with better learning materials.

Home schooling is relevant. During this time of pandemic home schooling is applicable. This would be for the sake of the teacher and the learner.

The adoption of home schooling is a good alternative mode of delivery and it should be considered.
References: