The people in the field of education, particularly in public schools, were already oriented and directed to the modular system of education wherein the instruction and learning are being realized using modules in different learning areas. The school administrators, teachers, students, parents/guardians, and entire school community embraced it in place of the conventional face-to-face interaction.

It is best to know the advantages of this modality that made it as the most-preferred choice of parents, of guardians and of the other stakeholders.

Through modular system, learning continues. As part of the Basic Education Learning Continuity Plan (BE-LCP), this modality paved the way for the learners to continue their education despite of the pandemic. Modular system is one of the methods that can make learning possible for the educational clientele.

The parents were able to grasp their role in the education of their children. Because of the modular system, the parents realized their roles in the learning process of their children. They may serve as the guide, home-facilitator, and support system of every child in the discovery of knowledge and in gaining competencies.

The learners can use their time wisely and usefully. With the set-up in the modular system, each learner also has a schedule to follow at home. Though only in the comfort of the house, the learner may find a way to spend time on the right and allotted time frame.
This kind of mode emphasizes lessons and values. Modular system is very instrumental for the child to acquire the lessons in every learning area. It also teaches the child the right values that are most-learned in this pandemic like giving importance to education and appreciating the people around amid the trying times.

The learners also develop initiative and independence in learning. The pupils or students are given the opportunities to deal with their Self-Learning Modules (SLMs) as their tools for education. With the given materials, they are able to read and develop the initiative and independence in dealing with the challenges brought by the lessons that they have.

On the hand, the teachers proved their resilience despite the challenges. The teachers were able to prepare the necessary materials for the benefit of the learners. They hurdled the difficulties in adjusting to the new mode of giving instructions.

The teachers were able to meet the parents or guardians regularly. They did not only become familiar with the parents of the learners but were to build a good relationship with them.

Through modular system, the teachers were able to provide the students with the most essential competencies needed. It is very essential that the modular system oriented them of the skills that must be taught to each learner in every subject.

With the modular system, the teachers were able to show their creativity and innovativeness. They became creative and innovative in the construction of the activity sheets ad summative tests, and in the creation of the Integrative Performance Tasks.

They were able to practice time management. With different subjects or different groups of students being handled, the teachers were able to utilize time properly and meaningfully.
Modular system has both advantages on the part of the student and on the part of the teacher. Thus, teaching and learning in different form may be realized through modular system.
