Teamwork, partnership and leadership, these are some of the life lessons you will learn if you watch the movie Avengers. Avengers is a group of superheroes that despite of their individual differences, they worked as a team to achieve one common goal. That is to save the Earth. Their team was composed of several superheroes with distinctive powers. Although they can manage to fight their enemies alone, still they work as team to achieve their mission. Some of the most remarkable superhero characters are Thor, Captain America, Hulk and Spiderman.

In reality, there are group of superheroes in Alternative Learning System, they are so called the ALSvengers. They are here to fight, not Thanos, but those hindrances and problems the students encounter in achieving their goals, to finish their education. The so called ALSvengers joined hand in hand to defeat the obstacles that the learners facing and will face in the future. They are here to support the needs of the learners, they will work as a team to achieve their objectives.

The ALSvengers was compared to the original superhero character in the Avengers movie because of their similar superpower and ability.

Captain America, these are the administrators and staff of the Department of Education. Their power is strength and perfection. As stewards of the department it is very important to have the strength to manage and plan for future programs that will benefit all the clienteles. It is also very important to be indestructible to any form of damaged. Like what Captain America portrays although he is subject to all vulnerabilities but he managed to work on his perfection.
Hulk, these are the District ALS coordinators, Mobile Teachers and Instructional Managers. These facilitators possesses super human strength. They need this super strength to reach out far flung and remote places to deliver the programs and projects of the department. They also uses their super strength to address all the needs of their clienteles. Their task was countless but still they’re here to accomplish the mission, to educate and to teach with a heart.

Spiderman is maybe one of the most popular superhero character, maybe because of his charm and for being friendly. Spidey is compared to the stakeholders of the department. They are friendly and always ready to support all the programs for the benefit of the learners. they have the super power of sixth sense, but unlike Spidey that alerts him from danger, stakeholders sixth sense power is to respond immediately to the needs of every learner.

Thor, these are the parents, also have the superpower strength. He is one of the most powerful superhero in the movie. He always support other superheroes, same as the parents who are always supportive with the administrators, teachers and stakeholders for the betterment of their children.

Teamwork is very important. You need to be surrounded by supportive and passionate people to achieve all the missions in life. Always remember no man is an island.
