Bullying can be occurred in both verbal and physical assault. It is considered as an act of misbehaviour manifested by aggressive use of force to others, particularly when it is habitual and involves discrepancy of power.

One form of bullying that deal with physical aggression namely, slapping, punching, beating, stabbing kicking, and the like refers to direct bullying. Another form of bullying includes spreading gossip, refusing to socialize with the victim and other socially significant markers, emotional, verbal and physical. Among these forms, cyber bullying emerged as the most anonymous form of bullying. Abusive use of technology will tend to cyber bullying.

As expected like any other situation, bullying can also be resolved. One effective means to bust bullying in the Philippines is the House Bill 5496 (Anti-Bullying Act of 2012). It indulge to inform the impact of bullying to both students and the parents, and the awareness on how bullying can be prevented.

The severe effects of bullying became an impediment to education; increased number of learners’ drop-out, poor academic performance, developed inferiority complex, and high rates of suicide. In this case, bullying can considered to be the number one enemy of everyone that can destroy dreams and goals of every individual.
