CHILDREN IN A RADICALLY MODERN WORLD

by:
Rachel V. De Pano

Each of us can say a lot about the impact of the modern world to the lives and attitude of our kids today. We truly miss those children who behave well in and out of their homes and even in school. We are now longing for the respect that we as adult deserve, simple acts like kissing our hands using Po at Opo, offering us seats whenever we need it and obeying our commands. Indeed a big change happened to the behavior of our children brought about by the modern era.

Because our kids today are growing up in a throw away world....We are surrounded by plastics and disposable materials like spoons, plates, cups etc., their manners are being influenced by those stuffs. The Fast food chains taught them to become impatient and lazy and the kind of environment shaped them to become self-centered. In all those life styles, they cannot accept the idea of permanent values, how to treasure things and relationships, and there is no continuity in their conducts and even in our culture and traditions.

The challenge then to us in this modern world is to help our youth in coping up with these influences. To instil to them our Filipino culture and Values. We need to be aware that children today are different in so many ways so we must be patient in dealing with them. They need our guidance and they need our love to become the best person that they could be.
References:

The Modern Teacher Magazine 2000 Edition