CLASSROOM DISPLAY

by:
Decelyn G. Vea
Master Teacher I New San Jose ES New San Jose, Din., Bataan

Classroom displays are a core and an integral part of a classroom. Children feel valued and involved whenever the classroom displays are well-decorated and full of attractive colors. Their artwork is often displayed on the walls and arranged in proper order. Classroom displays can motivate the cognitive thinking skills of a learner. It helps to boost up the understanding and knowledge of every pupil. Classroom displays can also help inspire students to be more hardworking and diligent. It can even shape and develop values that will be of use in the future. Furthermore, classroom display gives insight and purpose to study hard, dream high and achieve your goals and objectives in life. Many children aim to perfectly view their artwork, displayed in one corner of the classroom because it can boost their ego and have a high sense of self-confidence and self-esteem. Classroom display makes every child understand further the challenges of life. They become aware of what life brings and the common principles entangled with their daily lives. They are surrounded by the beauty of nature and the environment that makes them feel better and allows them to appreciate the consequences brought back by experiences in their world they live in. It is a simple and impactful way to share information and ideas regarding the work of others and what is going on in your classroom. When classroom displays are used effectively, it creates a number of command areas welcoming the pupils, teachers, and parents to be updated on the activities regarding the school plan and program of the entire community. Classroom display plays an important role in the studies of children. It facilitates learning and motivate them to be eager to do the school activities. It further shows evidence that creates a smooth relationship with each other and when classroom walls are highly decorated, it gives light and freshen the atmosphere of the classroom. It also revitalizes the condition of the learner to focus on their studies. Classroom display is essential in the life of every child.

References:

https://www.earlylearninghq.org.uk/earlylearninghq-blog/the-advantages-of-classroom-displays/