COMPUTERS ARE NOW A FACT OF LIFE

by:
Kristel Joy Buraga

Nowadays, computers have created a very effective information system to help streamline the management of an organization. This makes it a much needed tool for every business, banking, government, entertainment, daily life, industry, education, and administration. It can be said of all large organizations, whether the department or private sectors, use a computer for a variety of their daily business and it is the fastest growing industries in the world today. Computers have become part of our lives. Be it offices, hospitals, malls or just homes, computers are everywhere! They help us with calculations, storing data, staying organized and also entertain and inform us. Computers add speed and accuracy in various methods and so, they help us save time and money too.

Computers have made important contributions in various fields such as education, internet, calculation, business and entertainment.

Computers have a great contribution in the education field. The internet enabled computers do not only provide important knowledge and information on every subject, but they also connect students across the world.

With the help of internet on computers we stay connected with our friends and family. Computers provide us information and also entertain us. Today, we just need to type a word in the search engine and numerous pages open up for providing information on that particular word! Computers are extremely helpful in the distribution of information and knowledge. Also, we can watch movies, videos, news, etc., on computers with internet. Computers also help us generate money as there are many jobs and businesses that can be done online. Moreover, the online banking systems, online shopping and similar internet supported concepts on computers help save our time as well as money.

While computers carry out calculations and store and process data at office, they are also useful at home for many domestic tasks. For instance, they help us calculate the household budget by storing every day/monthly essential data.

Computers also help business to grow. Regardless of being small or big, various businesses maintain their books of accounts in computers. Also, there are various online methods like email campaign, social media marketing, etc., that help businesses to promote and grow. Computers also provide quick and reliable electronic receipts in supermarkets and at various places too. They are also widely used at hospitals for storing and retrieving patient information.

It is also great sources for entertainment. They give us plethora of choices when it comes to entertainment. We get to listen to music, watch movies and videos and chat with our friends with the help of computers.

This means that whatever form it may be, technology not only helps them in terms of personal matters but of other aspects as well as technology eases the living of people by minimizing efforts that would cost lots of time if it is not present. As time goes on, it is expected that technology will improve more for the next generation to benefit at.

Reference:

Importantindia