DEPED UNITES PEOPLE

by:

Rose Anne C. Perez

Teacher III, Tomas Pinpin Memorial Elementary School, SDO Abucay Annex

If there is one government agency that is well-loved by the people in our country that would be the Department of Education, otherwise known as the DepEd. This sector of the country not only offers quality education and molds future leaders, but it also unites the people for common vision, mission, goals and objectives.

DepEd puts all people together for the essence of basic education. The school leaders, teachers, parents and stakeholders are working together to realize that the schoolchildren should be at the center of the educative process. These people aim to provide the learners with the essential knowledge and skills that they deserve to acquire for their development and progress, for basic education is one of the children’s rights.

DepEd also promotes love for God. The Department of Education is teaching the students to render the highest regard to God. Our education sector unites us with the belief or faith that we have our Creator from whom our lives came from and who provides us with our needs. Our teachers really educate our school children with the very essential knowledge about God.

DepEd teaches love for people. Whenever the young children and learners are being taught to respect and love all other people, that is the time that they are being united for a common purpose. Our education sector unites the school children to show respect and compassion to others.

DepEd instills love for the country. It is truly endearing to think that the Department of Education promotes nationalism and patriotism among us, most especially to our learners. We are all united to give due respect and love to our Motherland. DepEd is really paving the way to educate the learners on being confident proud of our nation.

DepEd educates people in the protection and preservation of environment and surroundings. Through our educators in the Department of Education, the schoolchildren are able to protect and preserve the natural resources and varied surroundings. The Department of Education unites us to conserve and keep our resources.

DepEd upholds good and moral values. With the lessons that that we learned from the school, our values are being formed. The good and moral values that our teachers impart to us make us united in achieving better attitudes, behaviors and character.

Indeed, the Department of Educations (DepEd) makes us people united in terms of basic education, in our love for God, in our love for people, in our love for country, in the protection and preservation of environment and surroundings, and in good and moral values.

We may be diverse, but we are in unified in DepEd! Thus, people may achieve unity in diversity through the help of the Department of Education.

References:

https://depedilocossur.info/?p=2360