There are many facts and definitions given to the word effective teacher. It has been defined in terms of character traits, behavior, influence to people, learners, parents and role relations. All of these must be observe/possess by an effective teacher. In times of Pandemic, we truly need mentors who never get tired of doing his tasks and who are willing to sacrifice for the sake of his learners. As a model leader, he is being followed mainly because of his good traits aside from the skills he possesses. An effective teacher must be honest, humble, sincere, compassionate, determined and full of passion.

Consider this. Effective teachers must have a clearly defined convictions and must see to it that these convictions are turned into reality. Only when a teacher recognized your important role as a parent and a guide based on your own most deeply held truths can you be considered as effective. The students you supervise or watch over look for somebody who will wholeheartedly take care of them and place their trust. They need somebody who will look after their interests and tap their potentials. They also need someone whom they want to follow and a good example which they can emulate.

Effective teachers build excellence. They do not just command. Excellence is being the best that you can be within the limits of your responsibilities. To achieve excellence, teachers must be willing to learn and must possess character traits of a dedicated teacher. He needs to do the best that he can in all he does not only in school but also in all his ways. Excellence starts with a strong character who fit into the whole process of teaching-learning. The first step is being a person of principled character.

In times of great challenge like Covid-19, we need teachers who are not just effective but above all…Dedicated.
