DISTANCE LEARNING BUT NOT DISTANT

by:
John Keneth L. Cabarle
Teacher II, Orani National High School

The Department of Education is true to its commitment to provide quality education even in this trying time – the Covid-19 Pandemic. The department come up with Learning Continuity Plan where Distance Learning is part of the four Learning Delivery Modalities.

In distance education, learning is fulfilled outside the traditional face-to-face set up.

Orani National High School adopted the Modular Distance Learning as its preferred modality. Printed modules and soft copies of printed materials are provided to learners.

For students who have an access to internet, we encourage them to visit DepEd Commons, DepEd TV Youtube, DepEd TV Facebook, and DepEd LMS (Learning Management System) to gain additional knowledge apart from modules they received.

DepEd TV can also be viewed on IBC TV 13, CATVs (cables), DTH (black boxes) and DTT (satellite dishes) using their televisions.

Students can study their modules along with their learning buddy. They are the supportive parents, grandparents, siblings and relatives of our learners. There are also some students who choose to study independently.

To provide information and to accommodate the queries and concerns of our students and parents, we open all our means of communications. Text messaging, phone calls, chat messaging and video calls. We are trying our very best to respond even beyond our working day and time. This is just the least that we can do for hardships of our students and their learning buddies.

Following the health protocol of the IATF, even home visitation is being practiced by some teachers for their students who experience difficulty in getting their modules.

The eagerness of our students to learn and our determination to find ways on how we can provide quality education tied us together to reach our common objective – to have a victorious school year.

Though, our physical bodies are distant, our minds and spirit are closely connected.

References: