EDUCATIONAL MISSIONS

by:
Sylvia D. Gatus
Teacher III, Orani National High School

Upon the assumption into work as a teacher, the so called educational mission must be set clear to the mind and heart of the individual who will portray this significant role in the school or any educational institution.

The mission of a teacher should be instilled within the mind and heart in order to work altruistically for the sake and welfare of the educational clientele.

Giving quality instruction is one of the prime missions of a teacher. It is commendable that teachers have to teach very well and be able to realize efficiency and effectiveness in teaching.

The teacher ensures that learning is equitable to all. This connotes that all the students have the right to develop their full potentials by means of the knowledge and skills that the teachers are sharing with them nobly.

It is the responsibility of the teacher to have lessons and ideas which are culture-based. The teacher has to give focus and importance to the kind of culture of the students that best describe their community.

The students deserve to have a complete education. It is indeed a whole package learning which best suits the needs of the learners. Teachers are expected to provide the learners with adequate and complete education.
The kind of education that every teacher provides should be gender-sensitive. It is really important that teachers provide the needs of both boys and girls like in the lessons, activities and other undertakings for them to practice equality in gender.

The teachers must child-friendly that is they should make the learners feel that they are being protected in the school. The teachers have to make them feel the safety and protection that they deserve most especially in the school premises.

Teachers should also keep on motivating the learners for them to continuously grow in learning. Well-motivated students are more enthusiastic and energetic in doing school tasks and activities.

Teachers are also playing a big role in nurturing the school children. It is the duty of the teacher to develop and cultivate the potentials of the learners making them more productive and fruitful.

Educational missions should be performed and these will assist the teacher in doing a huge part in the lives of the learners.

References:

https://www.theedadvocate.org/5-keys-to-an-effective-school-mission/