EDUCATOR BY HEART

By:
Grace Bugay
Teacher-Applicant

Underemployment is one of the problems our country is facing right now. Misalignment on the landed job is most common in terms of employing a professional. Some professions are not aligned with the demand of society. But there will be always reason why we were not aligned to our jobs we landed. We are destined to be. We are capable to do such thing. We are born to be on what we are right now. We are born to be an educator.

The Senior High School under the K-12 program allows the nonteaching degree to be employed as regular temporary. The Department of Education requires those to have their professional license as teachers after five years. Teaching skills is more important than knowledge alone. Having said this, those who were able to experience the work can be able to educate the students concerning to the track and strand they intended to be enrolled.

Misalignment may be a key factor in understanding the differences between the students. Having no professional education units in the undergraduate will be a big gap towards the interaction with the students. Indeed, mastering the principles of teaching as well as the learning is a must to have a smooth flow of learning interaction.

As a graduate of another course, some universities offer courses such as certificate in teaching program which allows the nonteaching to be an educator. Discussion of professional subject is a need for us to understand the diverse learners. But regardless, we are all born as educator in different way. We educate our own children even if they are not yet enrolled in formal school. We were able to mold them as who they are before they go to school. We teach our child to be an independent individual.

Even if we do not have a bachelor’s degree in elementary or secondary education, we must bear in our minds that we can be able to understand differences. We can be able to inspire and make learning meaningful as long as the passion and spirit of educating young is there. We may not have this license but the important this is we are EDUCATOR BY HEART.

Reference:

https://www.officialgazette.gov.ph/k-12/

https://www.thebalance.com/underemployment-definition-causes-effects-rate-3305519