Learners as well as the teachers aspire to be a good communicator using the English language, everybody has the eagerness to learn and acquire more vocabularies that they could use in speaking the language. They exert a lot of efforts to hone their speaking skills to the maximum level. However, there are persons who have anxiety in speaking the English language. They think the moment they speak they will commit grammatical errors. And with these scenarios, individuals tend to shut their mouth because of the fear of committing mistakes.

Speaking using the English language is indeed necessary for everyone for them to utilize the vocabularies that they have stored in their mind. This is to familiarize themselves with the construction of statements or sentences orally without confusion. According to Greddol (2011), on his “Language A System of Communication English Language Essay,” English is the operational language of worldwide association and discussions. It is also the language of advanced education. With the above statements, English language is being utilized all over the world for communication and transaction purposes. It is an international language across countries for the purpose of meaningful communication regardless of one’s identity, race, religion, and country of origin.

The world is now turning into a global village wherein everyone must have the capacity to speak using the English language. We cannot deny the fact that English language is a significant in the society. With the aid of this worldwide language, it enables an individual to communicate to a person belonging to a different society and culture.
Familiarizing and acquainting ourselves in the world of Engishes will leverage our knowledge and abilities towards speaking the English language all throughout the world.
