GOOD ATTITUDE IS THE KEY TO SUCCESS

In most cases inside the classroom, we observe the traditional instructional method of teaching… drill, test and then, drill again, still lives on. Such method is an expression of the idea that frequent repetition is the best way to make our pupils learn and the things learned best are the one that the most rehearsal. For materials or skills that have functional value, repetition may aid in retention. But, will this routine make all our pupils learn? I believe not because in some instances, it may lead to apathy or boredom.

As stated on the article of Plaza College, it stressed that a positive attitude is the guide to leading a positive life. Maintaining a positive attitude through the ups and the downs is important to every aspect of life: your social status, your work, your health and your relationships. If you’re feeling down and having a particularly negative outlook on the way things are going, just remember that attitude is everything and a positive attitude will lead you out of the darkest of times.

There may be some validity to the idea that things properly learned and practiced will be remembered but this holds true only if they have acquired some kind of personal value to us.

Skills and information are leaned in an interactive way for it is impossible to learn one without the other. The information we possess is a guide to what information we need and how it may be used. They are best learned and retained when they are organized into a conceptual system. The basic idea is that the information and skills within this area are interested.

The children’s attitude is of tremendous importance when it comes to teaching them how to read and in fostering the right attitude towards themselves, the teachers, the school and the world in the general. This will change in the sense that they will develop and will be strengthened as a result of having learned to read. Favorable attitudes, likewise is a prerequisite for successful learning experiences.
