GROWING IN THE PROFESSION

by:
Anna Liza R. Libao
Master Teacher I, Orani South Elementary School

Teachers do not remain stagnant in their profession. They keep on growing professionally to make a better stance in their chosen career. Teachers must continuously evolve so as to withstand the challenges of every day interaction with different kinds of people.

Go on with further education. Teachers are enrolled in the Graduate School not just to obtain masters or doctorate degree but to acquire advanced tenets or concepts that would intensify their abilities as educators.

Indulge in various seminars and trainings. The teachers at present are exposed to different trainings and seminars in order to empower themselves in the delivery of teaching instructions. They extend their knowledge on to what is the latest and at trend.

Be a resource speaker. Teachers have the ability to speak out what they know. Once they are given a chance to tackle a particular topic before a crowd then the self-esteem is elevated and the credibility is enhanced.

Hone student-achievers. The teacher who hones the abilities and talents of students other than in the regular school session may grow professionally. Since they think of better ways to train their protégés, they keep on improving their crafts and the things that they have to share.
Have a self-evaluation. Evaluating oneself as a teacher is necessary to grow professionally. You have to determine your strengths and weakness. Through evaluation you may find out what is lacking in you particularly on the way you execute yourself as a teacher.

Be ready for challenges and struggles. As a teacher, we learn from our experiences and so as with the challenges and struggles that we encounter. These will make us stronger and will help us grow professionally.

Read inspirational notes. There are passages from books and other reading materials that will inspire us. These strengthen our spirit and make us courageous in facing life.

Remain optimistic. Always remain positive for an optimistic outlook contributes to your professional growth.

Growing professionally is not difficult if the above-mentioned concepts are to be conscientiously considered.

References: