HOW WE CAN IMPROVE OUR ENGLISH COMMUNICATION SKILLS?

by

Mayeil R. Tiangco

Blessed Regina Protmann Catholic School

Nowadays, it is essential to know that the exact language for an effective communication and the most popular option is English. In this advancing era we have, it is true that English is the primary language that millions of people worldwide can understand. That is to say, it actually has become an ideal language to express our feelings clearly.

The initial step or stage to learn this language is definitely interesting and that is to become fluent with the exact alphabets. Remember that by slowing learning more words, it makes it easier to follow the different methods of reading in the first place. For instance, we can utilize the different English books for this kind of purpose and as soon as we become familiar with the words we read, it is not difficult to form and complete sentences.

This is actually an interesting step or stage to learn because it is similar to learning a sentence during our childhood days when thought by our mothers. During the process, it is also necessary to try writing the sentence in English words and we should not fear about the possible mistakes. As soon as we continue in the process, we learn to understand different sentences using different words until we meet the right satisfaction from what we learned.

Without any doubt, English is now the most widely spoken language across the globe and it has become the preferably choice for both business and personal communications. To learn more about it, below are a few of the best tips to help us better and faster:

- Listening

It is true that by listening to people who talk using English language, this helps much in improving our communication skills. Keep in mind that there are different types of television programs, news programs and radio shows to allow us listen during the conversations. The more proficient the speakers we hear, the better we learn and absorb the right way to speak the language fluently.

- Proper Motivation

This is another important factor to learn on how to communicate better using English. If we can access ourselves, in knowing on whether we can start or not, it would be easier to consider proper motivation to reach our objective accordingly.

- Effective Reading
When talking about this aspect, the most interested references to improve our communication in English would be to read more quality newspapers. We say quality because we are going to waste money and time if we choose those poor in standards. In most cases, the available international standard newspapers, journals and magazines are more effective to read. Of course, we cannot just disregard the value of the Internet now because it can easily lead us to many reliable websites to learn English communication the right way.

- Speaking

They say that the success of learning English is to continue speaking the language. If we get the chance to talk with different native and local English speakers within just a few days or weeks, of continuous speaking, we can surely notice the immediate changes as we go on.

- Learning Vocabulary

This is perhaps one of the most interesting and important tips that we need to help us improve our English communication. We need to understand that whatever kind of language we desire to learn, there are hundreds if not thousands of vocabulary words. Remember that even those original native English speaking people, they do not memorize all the existing words because these are enormous.

Remember, we may discover countless of tips and strategies to know how to converse in English and the list might be unending. Surely, we might possibly feel surprised for the words we are truly familiar.