“I AM A HUMAN BEING - NOT JUST A PERSON”

by:

Daisy I. Alarcon
Teacher II – English, Mabatang National High School

We, people are the most important creatures that our Lord created. He gave us knowledge on how we can manage His properties in a nice way. We, the most intelligent species God created should know the standard of right and wrong. We must know the virtuous act, which is natural to a human being endowed primarily with a reason and will.

As a creature with His own image and likeness, we must use our characteristics and abilities in a better way of living. God created us perfectly without any mistake, without any hesitation. So, as a person, we must do what God ought us to do, to know the responsibilities that God has given us. God endowed us not only with the different senses. Moreover, He gave us knowledge and heart to obey what is good and whatever God wants to us. A human being who is happy with the form of his legs that is prepared to run through all the stages of life. You can face all the beauty of the world as well as the trials in life that intended to make us better and not bitter. Happy and strong enough as a person to deal with other facets of existence either in the lighter or in the darker side of life.

I am a human being not just a person “totally completed by God. He did not create us, as the bad one. What God gave to us is a gift from Him but what we become is our gift to Him. So, we can clearly say that when a man created by God, he is totally a good man. Man acts in accordance with his nature. And time after time of his growth and development, he will be influenced by the different kinds of people with different characteristics that brought him to become bad.
As a human being, becoming a pure creature of God, knows what my hang ups, my foul attitude are. And improving it is not an easy task to do. It takes a lot of nerves to do the best. You cannot change into a good one in just one click of your fingers. You have to do it successfully by your own self and maybe with the help of others that surround you unless if they are willing to help you.

We all know that most of the people are not true with their very own selves. There is something wrong behind their backs. You will truly become a completely strong person if you are not afraid to reveal the real “you.” “To shout on top of the world, “Hey, it’s me, the real me!” People are afraid to show their real nature because they think that people will not like them after saying and revealing their weaknesses. That’s why people are unpredictable because they know how to hide their real nature. They know how to speak false things that seem true, but they know also when they will start to act with it and to utter true things.

In order for you to become a real human being, be true to yourself first, no other personality behind your back and I assure you that you will live meaningful and productive in this wonderful world. Furthermore, as much as I wanted to become a better person in this humanity, I decided to become a TEACHER. When I was a kid, I dreamed of becoming a teacher. It was clear in my mind. The picturesque on what I did on top of our long wooden chair when I was a preschooler. I played “aral-aralan” with my playmates. I was the teacher and my playmates were my pupils. I used to stand on top of that chair and talk and talk like a teacher.

My late father was so supportive for he wanted to have a teacher in the family. He bought me blackboard and chalk. It was so funny but it became a reality. As I grew older, deciding on what course to enroll in college was easy for me. I enrolled the education course. I was excited, really excited, for my cherished dream has come true, to become a teacher.

My high school teachers and college instructors inspired me to become a teacher someday. I had favorite teachers and I emulated their work attitude and aptitude. It is an undeniable fact that it is in our nature to seek for a model who can stand for our dreams and ideals, a person worthy of our faith and trust, and that is a teacher. Teachers are the ones why do we have formally educated people in different fields. They produce professionals. It is because of the wit, commitment, and dedication of the teachers in their chosen field. They possess the essential traits and abilities generally related to quality teaching.

I am a human being—not just a person. Our good Lord created me to be a person in the field of education. And without being conceited, it happens for a wholesome reason.

References: