IMPLICATIONS OF GLOBALIZATION OF EDUCATION

by:
Gloria B. Crisostomo
Teacher III, District ALS Coordinator, Pilar Elementary School

Education serves as a platform to enable students be equipped with whatever challenges they may experience in the future. Practice and experience of education gives them necessary knowledge, skills and values and help them cope with the fast-paced and challenging globalization. This promotes readiness towards future endeavor and makes them competitive and adapt with the changes and all.

WE are living in a fast-changing world and so the trend of our education should be on the tract of how the world works. WE adapt the K-12 program from the other side of the world to practice and experience this kind of curriculum to have a change in Philippine Educational System. The practice and experience of this education will surely be a firm foundation of having a better Philippines. All countries standardized their academic system through the implementation of the K to 12. This means that countries can honor and provide job opportunities to other foreign citizen whose educational system is aligned with the k to 12.

The quality of education according to recent studies declined. Thus, there is a strong need to evaluate the factors that contribute to low quality of education. Aside from changing or making amendments in the curriculum, the teacher can be the greatest contributor in improving the quality of education so we can produce graduates who can bequeath to the society at large.

The implication of education within our country is that there are a lot of children that are deprived of quality education. To make our country more universally competitive we must train teachers to have more empathy for the youth and train them also to raise globally competitive students. If we want to see our purpose in life, we must not seek the answers to ourselves but instead we should open our eyes to the problems of our country especially with regards to education.

Another implication of globalization for the practice and experience of education is that our learners will be more aware of what education can bring to them especially the K to 12 program of the Department of Education. There will be more jobs that Filipinos can apply for and their opportunity to show their skills and be more productive. There will be more studies, research and inventions that will be conducted and discovered which will be a great contribution to our country. Instead of talking about people, we must talk about ideas to make the world a better place. Thus, globalization challenges us to rethink, not only how much education is needed but also its final goal.

References:
http://newsinfo.inquirer.net/71693/deped-readers-k12-curriculum-for-next-year