IMPORTANCE OF EDUCATION

by:
Francelle C. Tabije

The first thing that comes to our mind when we think about education is acquiring knowledge. Education gives us knowledge about the world that we are living. It let us see things in our lives differently. Without education, we cannot gain new ideas. It means we’re enable to develop the world because if we don’t have ideas we can’t have creativity and without creativity, we cannot develop our world.

Nelson Mandela once said, “Education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world.” By having education we can have a better future not just for ourselves but also for the people that surrounds us and for the next generation that we will have.

Everyone deserves to be educated. It is the early investment in childhood development. Education starts from childhood, wherein children learn everything from what’s happening around them. It is essential to educate children at a young age, so when they reach adulthood, they can easily understand the reality better and make decisions that can influence their own lives and also the society. Having a good education can improve the wisdom of a person who wants to bring a positive change in the society.

Education is now accessible to all. We can easily study today because of the modern technologies that we have. Aside from books, we can learn from the internet. Just one click away and we can already see the information that we need to a certain topic. By this day, we can already access online schools, colleges and universities easily to have a degree in life.
In our society, it is totally important to have a good education, like getting a degree from colleges or universities, because having a good education indicates that we will have a better future for ourselves. When you have a college degree people tend to respect you more and think highly of you. But having a college degree is not just the only indicator for having a good education. You should also have a good manner.

I believe that being a well-educated person is not just by having a college degree but knowing what is right and what is wrong. You respect all the people around you and don’t degrade other people. And by that we can have a better future for our society.

References:
Source: https://www.klientsolutech.com/importance-of-education-in-life/