One of the reasons why doing of assignments is significant to every learner because it enhances their level of thinking skills in acquiring new knowledge or information for better learning. It helps the students to improve their level of retention and understanding to a new lesson. Through giving of assignments the students are now ready to face challenges in their studies.

Another benefit in giving of assignment is to develop their study habits. Learn to prioritize things. Inculcate into their minds that doing their assignments will really help them to have a broad minded in a certain phenomenon.

Learning by doing is also so important. There is learning thru actions. By doing their own tasks they become smart and active. They develop their self-confidence especially in sharing their knowledge and opinions during classroom discussions. It also prevents from cheating especially during the tests because thru making their own assignments they become more knowledgeable. As a result, high performance academically and their love ones are now proud of them. Sooner or later they achieve their dreams or ambitions.
