The prominent philosopher Aristotle once conspicuously stated that “Excellence is an art won by training and habituation. We do not act rightly because we have virtue or excellence, but we rather have those because we have acted rightly. We are what we repeatedly do. Excellence, then, is not an act but a habit.”

With this we have to consider how a teacher would cross the path in achieving excellence in the field of education in teaching the learners and in upgrading one’s competence in the profession.

In passing through the door towards educational excellence, the teacher must first realize the means in order to reach excellence in education. Primarily, self-assessment of potentialities and capabilities is very vital because one cannot give what he or she doesn’t have. It is very important that a teacher should realize his/her strengths and even the weaknesses in order to find ways for changes and improvements. It is a better practice if an educator will continue to enhance the abilities that will greatly affect the teaching experiences of the learners.

Another important matter to be considered in quest for educational excellence is to empower your teaching styles in order to suit to your educational clientele. It is such a better practice if the teacher is currently inclined with the updated trends in teaching pedagogies in the field of education. Utilizing the most suitable and appropriate teaching methodologies and techniques is highly advisable most especially in the K to 12 Curriculum.

One important point is to embrace the benefits of technology. This digital age prompts every teacher to implement computer-based teaching in the classroom setting since the new generation of learners is readily interested in technological advancement. Technology invites the students to learn and discover all the things under the sun.
A teacher who is having a journey to educational excellence must possess the concepts qualities of inspiration, motivation and ambition. Education should inspire, motivate and set ambition for the students to savor. It is the responsibility of the teacher to reach the level of excellence for the sake of the learners.

The next thing to consider in search for excellence is the attitude. The right attitude is seen on the teachers. The attitude connotes positivity in achieving the goals and objectives of education. No matter what barriers may hinder in the realization of the educational objectives, a teacher should be well-directed, focused and determined to reach quality and excellence in the teaching-learning procedure.

The excellence in education is visible in the classroom undertaking. This is the right venue for the teacher to realize educational excellence. Teachers must incorporate personal and professional qualities, modern pedagogies, latest technology, various driving concepts and the right attitude in dealing with the students and in making their learning experiences fruitful.
