LAPTOP: A USEFUL TOOL FOR LEARNING

by:
Monnette M. Bartolo
Teacher-Applicant

Using laptops promotes ease for learners, touches the work and lives of students, even the culture in school, process and quality of job for learners, and students’ social relationship.

Laptops are often involved in school works and are usually used by everyone nowadays. It is very useful as it gives us the ease of access in the internet where we browse the information that we need in doing requirements such as reports, power point presentation, documentation, etc. It is defined as a technological tool that is a form of computer and is portable and suitable for use since we can take it wherever we go.

This kind of computer is very significant in the lives of students in many ways and these are: typing in laptop can reduce the time used in writing, digital note taking is faster and can arrange information automatically, enable the students to meet at any place to do group works, and also gives access on the materials they need such as newspaper articles, video creation software, etc. Indeed, laptops can greatly help the students in school works with ease.

In terms of social relationship, students can easily form a collaboration by presenting their ideas with the use of laptop so everyone can visualize it like when video presentation will be shown. We all know that laptop is accessible and it can be connected with projectors for a wider screen and that is another advantage in having such portable computer.
Laptops are not just useful to students but also to the facilitators. With its use, the teaching method of teachers will become easier by just presenting the topic together with the information that will support it. It can also give them extra time to ready their upcoming lesson while the students are understanding what is on the presentation. Meaning, laptops are useful to all.

In conclusion, with access to laptops, students and even teachers can work easily on their respective task since it is portable and can be brought anywhere and anytime. If ever the place that they are staying is too loud, then they can transfer to an environment that is free from noise to work effectively. Indeed, laptop is not just a tool that we use daily but already a part of our daily lives.

References:

https://education.seattlepi.com/benefits-laptops-students-3053.html