Language plays a vital role in human life. For without language, people could not easily understand or communicate with one another which could lead most of the time to communication breakdown.

In the field of education, it is very important to consider the appropriate language that should be used in the class. The learners and teacher should converse in the language that is required in the subject area that they are dealing with. This demand is also warranted by the Department of Education (Deped) wherein there are subject areas that should be taught in Filipino and some should be taught in English. Some institutions are already offering other language like Mandarin. In the Division of Bataan, the Bataan School of Fisheries (BSF) is the pioneering school which offers Mandarin class among its learners. In this manner, both the learners and teachers are able to upgrade their skills in communicating effectively in different languages which is very essential in this rapidly expanding competitive world.

If our learners could communicate efficiently using the vernacular language – Filipino and the most indemand language – English plus other languages, weee could therefore have a set of young Filipinos who are very much prepared to explore, compete and showcase their talents, skills and abilities to the world as they reach their aspirations in life which could also eventually put our country on top of success.
