The invention of internet had a profound impact on all of us. It is pretty clear that it has transformed the world in many ways over the past several decades. It has changed business, education, government, healthcare, and even the ways in which we interact with our loved one.

In today’s world, almost every facet of our lifestyle is now impacted by the internet. Our dependence on the internet will seemingly grow more as we go towards the future. The internet now acts as a one-stop guide to all the information and queries about beauty, style, fashion, lifestyle, personal grooming and more.

Before the invention of internet, life was different. Obtaining additional knowledge was much more difficult as you need to look up words and facts in old encyclopedias. TV viewing options were limited to what the TV network showed. If you want to watch a particular movie, you need to go out for cinemas, or you need to rent or buy a recorded CDs. We can read the current news via printed newspaper, television news broadcast and radio broadcast. We can learn about other cultures and lifestyles by reading books and magazines. Almost all written communications were mailed in the post office. Copies of documents were transmitted using fax machines. We can buy foods, clothes, etc. by going to the stores.

But today a click or two is enough to read news whether local or abroad from different news source. We can have online classes, meetings, and seminars using online platforms. We can shop on-line just by sitting at home and get the desired product within some days at our doorstep. We can search online of the words and facts to obtained additional knowledge. Now net banking is possible in which we can directly check our balance, open new account or can directly transfer the money in someone’s account without even going to the bank. We can pay all the bills and book the tickets online just by sitting at home. Whether we like it or not, internet has augmented into our lives, not as a luxury anymore but perhaps as a new paradigm for sharing and exchanging information, remotely being in touch with your contacts and people virtually over a vast network of consciousness.

With this great invention, we should keep in mind that no matter how rapid the advancement of internet, the efficiency of its use lies in our hands. We should be a responsible user. Even the fact that it has also negative effects, we can get a great benefits and positive impacts if we use it in a safe and responsible manner.
