LIFELONG LEARNER

by:
Marites P. Tria
Teacher III, Orani North Elementary School

Education is a never-ending experience. It teaches one to continue pursuing dream and knowledge. What should be taught to a child to make him a lifelong learner?

Education is providing exciting adventure. A lifelong learner never stops from discovering exciting adventure whether in work or in place. Continuously discovering activities and places makes one aware of the people and of the environment.

Education is sharing aspirations. Through the school one learns to have aspirations in life. It is framing a person to set goals and continue to grow. It is being a lifelong learner carrying out life with dreams and aspirations.

Education is keeping one inspired. Through the inspiration that education provides a person becomes a lifelong learner. Carrying with oneself the inspiration to pursue better career thus have better life in the future ahead, Education is making dreams come true. Through education one becomes a dreamer and eventual find the realization of the dream. The lifelong learner is indeed a dreamer and someone who fulfills a dream.

Education is equating passion to learn. The passion to learn makes a person a lifelong learner that is to continue embracing education throughout one’s life. Truly, a lifelong learner is passionate in education.

Education makes one to be ready to embrace new ideas. A lifelong learner should be willing to face new challenges and to embrace new ideas to add to one’s character, intellect and personality.

Education is teaching innovation, in line with this, a lifelong learner is capable of accepting and imbibing innovation not only in work but also in personal life. The innovation is always embraced by lifelong learners.

Education is the root of lifelong learners. It is through education that a kind of person is developed.

References:

http://slworkshop.net/2013/08/living-as-a-lifelong-learner-and-dreamer/