A teacher must conform to the demands of time in order to attend to the needs of the students. As a modern teacher it is expected that you exude the standards that are anticipated from a teacher.

These are the attributes of the modern teacher that mirror their eccentricities:

Flexible and adaptable. The modern teacher is flexible enough to attend to the demand of changes in the field of education. Also, the modern teacher easily adapts with the work challenges in the school for the benefit of the learners.

Confident. The modern teacher has the self-esteem to face the people he or she leads. Being a teacher-leader a modern teacher confidently teaches well and directs righteously the learners in the school making them better and more productive.

Well-rounded. The modern teacher is not only confined to one task. He or she should be well equipped with various knowledge and skills to be utilized in the teaching field. Being well-rounded also connotes the teacher’s versatility.
Teamwork-oriented. The modern teacher believes in collaboration. The spirit of teamwork is within the mind and soul of the modern teacher. Teamwork is the current trend in the class group work and teachers should be aware of that.

Optimistic. The modern teacher is positive in doing the teaching responsibilities and in dealing with the internal and external stakeholders. He or she is positive in honing the knowledge and abilities of the students.

Globally competitive. The modern teacher has the ability to compete not only locally but also globally. He or she has the power to prove his or her worth as a teacher. He or she exudes standards that are anticipated from a modern teacher.

Empowered. The modern teacher is empowered that is he or she has the capacity to influence others in doing what is right and what is good. The teacher has to use power to do good for others.

Technologically adept. The teacher at present should have enough know-how in computers and other technological gadgets for a lot of tasks depend on the power of technology.

Innovative. The modern should answer the call of innovation. He or she should be inventive enough to stimulate the interest of the students.
These attributes reflect the picture or mirror of the modern teacher who is facing constructive challenges in the field of education.
