A good teacher can teach you something that you will remember for a day, but a great teacher will inspire you towards greatness and leave life meaningful lessons that you will remember for the rest of your life. A teacher can influence many important characteristics in a person’s life in different ways.

Teachers are more than just a teacher. They are influential role models in developing every learner and they are responsible more than just academic enrichment. A great teacher not only touches lives but connects with his learner and reaches them on multiple levels. A great teacher is committed to his learner’s well-being both inside and outside the classroom. A great teacher has a great impact on his learner’s lives, teaching them the most important lesson in life that will help them succeed beyond any standardized tests to measure how much they had learned.

Teachers are also considered as a second parent, and you could say that they spend more time in school rather than at home. They are not just teaching, they love and nurture these children as well like their real parents do. They mold and shape a child’s personality to help them reach their dreams in their future. They can teach you the importance of trust, and be being trustworthy. A teacher should also be able to recognize each learner as an individual. Not only have they strengthen the foundation of life, they are the building blocks of the future.

Teachers did not need to be a rocket scientist or a brain surgeon, but he influenced to become the best at anything that set out to be. So we are not just teachers, we are so much more than just a teacher.
