ONLINE LEARNING | ADVANTAGES AND DISADVANTAGES

by:
Ma. Loida D. Pablo
Teacher II, Pagalanggang National High School

What are the advantages of online learning? There are a few things to adore about this sort of learning. Here are the benefits of internet learning:

1. Spares Time. With internet learning, you don't drive or take a taxi to class. This helps you spare time, other undertaking that needs your consideration.

2. Gain knowledge and updates. From the workplace through the internet, you can access unlimited information from various sources.

3. Convenience. The customary study hall setting is exhausting. Web based learning permits you to gain even from your bed, as long as you comprehend the substance. You gain from a spot you are alright with, at whatever point you need.

4. Convienient and hassle free.

5. Saves time and money spent on travel or transportation.

6. Available 24/7 Learning Materials. All learning assets are available whenever. Additionally, with applications, for example, ezTalks, you can even record learning meetings for future reference.

7. Quick and Easy Sharing of Resources.

8. You get more Audience.

10. It Offers a Variety of Courses on One Platform. Web based learning programs are available. All you need is a web association. Customary taking in expects you to move starting with one foundation then onto the next to get the course you are searching for.

11. Builds self-reliance and patience. Internet learning calls for control, commitment, and timeliness. It encourages you be a self-propelled individual with incredible time cognizant aptitudes.

On the otherhand, Online Learning also has several disadvantages:

1. Web Connection Problems.

2. Requires A Good Grasp of Tech Skills.

3. Does not have the Warmth of Face to Face Interaction.

4. Lack of Actual Practice/experiments for those activities needing practicum.

5. Distressing for Those with Weak Character.

References: