Since different modalities are now being introduced, online education is also worth-discussing. As part of the educational system, online teaching and learning has distinctive advantages.

It is interactive. The great thing in online education is the teacher and the learners interact virtually using the power of the Internet. Classes are done electronically and they are able to interact via online.

It is fun. This means that both parties enjoy in the online set-up for they are able to do their responsible roles in the educative process. The teacher is able to actively instruct while the learners are able to answer enthusiastically.

It is cost effective. Since both the teacher and learner enjoy the comfort of home, they do not need to go out for travel and do not need to spend amount for external expenses.

It is timely. Now that it is the time when people are restricted to go out due to the current pandemic, online teaching and learning is relevant. People may employ this modality to be safe and sound.

It is systematic. Online education offers a systematic program in the teaching-learning procedure. E-learning makes it possible for the teachers to organize their lessons and activities while the student may easily and readily access these things for learning.

It is safe. This ensures the safety of the teacher and learners. They do not to go out and travel just to have a class interaction instead they do it online in place of the conventional face-to-face class session.
It is convenient. The so called convenience is achieved in online teaching and learning for the comforts of the home is enjoyed and the convenient to stay at home is achieved.

It is flexible. This kind of modality may be advantageous in the sense that the teacher and learner may set a specific time convenient to both of them and so time is flexible. The flexibility may also be observed in the accomplishment of the learning tasks.

To sum up everything, we can therefore say that online teaching and learning is interactive, fun, cost effective, timely, systematic, safe, convenient and flexible.
