An educator once said that the strongest influence emanates from home and school where values, habits and attitudes are formed. Behavior/ good manners are learned from what the parents are doing at home or thru their example as well as from the teachers in school and from the behaviour of people around them. That’s why these people must be the role model when it comes to developing Filipino values like Respect, Honesty, Love of God and country, Responsibility, Self-discipline and Productivity.

Today, the school plays an important role in rearing our children, thus, the Alternative Learning System as part of the educational cycle is being challenge to deliver not only quality education to its learners but also to be more serious in moulding their behaviour. Let us remember that polite children are reared and moulded by polite parents and teachers, kind children were trained by kind mentors, loving and well-disciplined kids were trained by such kind of guardians. Even the virtue of being productive and responsible will be learned from patient parents and teachers, so this is the challenge being given to such school like the ALS or the Alternative Learning System.

Providing trainings and lectures and integrating these values on the day’s lesson will help a lot to improve the behaviour of our ALS students and will make them develop a well-rounded personality. Let us bring back the teaching of Good Manners and Right
Conduct to the youth in our present generation and our planet will be a better place to live.
