As time flies, the role of the teacher has evolved. The modern teachers have varied roles that are to be played for the benefit of the learners. Teachers may assume the following roles given below to assist and guide the learners in their education.

Educator. An educator is someone who instructs and shares knowledge to the learner. Moreover, the teacher as educator is someone who conveys information, concepts and ideas to the students for them to gain competence and proficiency.

Motivator. As a motivating agent, the teacher stimulates the learners in achieving academic excellence. Further, a teacher is also the source of inspiration of those students who encountered failures and difficulties.

Facilitator. The new trend in the class is that the teacher acts as a facilitator and the students do most of the activities. The teacher that is acting as a facilitator guides the students in the discovery of knowledge and in developing their competencies.

Mentor. The teacher who serves as a mentor is giving valuable advice and suggestions to the learners. A mentor is someone who builds confidence within the learner. Mentoring is way to hone the mind and boost the morale of the student.

Assessor. The teacher who acts as assessor is someone who evaluates the written, oral and physical accomplishments of the students. The assessor does not criticize but instead rates the student’s work or accomplishment fairly and constructively.
Organizer. The teacher organizes everything in the classroom. From the class activities to the tasks that students have to accomplish, organization is required. The teacher-organizer sees to it that everything is in order in the classroom.

Communicator. The teacher also serves as a communicator. The teacher conveys ideas and information not only to the students but also to the other stakeholders of the school.

Adviser. There are several times that students need guidance and advice. The teacher acting as adviser is serving as the confidant of the student who gives caring advice and suggestions.

Counselor. In relation to being an adviser, the teacher also counsels. Counseling is the deeper approach of advising. It is more on directing the behaviors or actions of the students for them to be good or even better.

These are the roles that the modern teachers may assume and play as a member of the school community.
