The Physical Education teachers must assume roles and responsibilities for the benefit and welfare of the students. The following are the roles that they must assume in the school.

Organize the place, materials and students. The Physical Education teacher should organize the place where the class will be held. He/she also has to prepare the necessary materials most especially if the application of the skills is required. Moreover, he/she has to manage the students very well to have order in the class.

Provide adequate equipment. The equipment is truly needed in the success of the classroom discussion and in the application. The Physical Education teacher must provide sufficient tools in order to achieve success in teaching Physical Education. In this way, the students can easily learn the skills being taught.

Set the instruction time. The Physical Education teacher must set and allot ample time for the students to learn the necessary skills in Physical Education. There should be ample time in teaching the lesson proper and there should be sufficient time for its implementation.

Give opportunities to students. Students love to participate, perform and also to lead. The Physical Education teacher should be more aware and more sensitive to this. The teacher must equally share the responsibilities and give everyone the opportunities.

Teach necessary skills. The kind of skills to be taught in Physical Education will depend on the Grade level of the students. Let the students learn what they deserve to learn. Have them the skills which they ought to know.

Provide indoor and outdoor activities. The indoor and outdoor activities in Physical Education class make it more exciting for the students to enjoy the activities as set by the teacher. The teacher should both provide these for the students’ zest or enjoyment.
Motivate the students to be active. It is also the role of the teacher to motivate the students in being active school discussions and culminating activities. The active participation can lead to further learning or better outcome.

Incorporate fun in teaching-learning. The Physical Education teacher should make clean fun upon teaching the lessons. Good humor can be more inviting.

Praise good deeds. The morale of the students would be uplifted if the teacher acknowledges their good deeds or accomplishments.

Set an example. The teacher should set a good example in terms of attitudes and actions. The students need to see the exemplary Physical Education teacher for them to emulate.
