SPORTS DEVELOPMENT IN THE SCHOOL

by:

Ruther M. Baclig
Teacher III, Mariveles National High School - Poblacion

Sports should be well-promoted in schools for this will be the perfect place to scout budding and potential players who could not only excel locally but also internationally as well. The leader and teachers in the school should realize that sports development is very important in yielding the best of the students.

Being a part of the school curriculum particularly in MAPEH subject sports development should be meticulously planned and organized. The right people should stage the right action plan for the school year sports development activities in the school. The MAPEH head teacher or coordinator together with the MAPEH teachers should have specific targets and objectives to be achieved in the school sports development.

The necessary budget is also required in the school sports development. The school authorities should allocate sufficient budget in support of various sports activities and in support of the student-athletes in order to finance the needs of the said events and of the said individuals.

The proper staffing and delegation of people is very important in the school sports development. To be able to put the right people in the right position to handle sports responsibilities and activities should be carefully done in order to attain the specific targets for the benefit of the sports development program in the school.

The collaboration of ideas among the people in the school particularly the ones who are involved in sports would greatly contribute to the success of the sports development program. Having pooled ideas from brilliant minds is leading to much better output.

The activities in sports should be well-organized and well-coordinated. They should address all the targets as defined in the plan. The activities should be at the right place and on the right time.

The training of the students in the sports development program should be sufficient and complete. The experts should train them and give them necessary instructions leading to their mastery.

The monitoring should also be done by the key persons in the school in order to determine if the school sports development is going smoothly.

Finally, the evaluation must be done in order to determine the success, the strengths and weaknesses and the measures to be applied for better implementation. These are all needed in the success of sports development in the school.

References: