Ethics are very important factor to improve our workplace. If the teachers or employees possess and exercise good ethics in the workplace, then there will be unity and harmony and the school performance will improve.

Talking about ethics in the workplace, it means that a teacher/employee has good behavior. He is responsible, hard-working, cooperative, loyal, courteous, peacemaker and caring person. He understands his job and perform if well and meet the standards set by the school or office where he is employed. He do more that he is paid to do. If this is the kind of performance that a teacher shows, it will greatly affect the entire place and there will be influence in the lives of the teachers and other employees as well. Thus, ethics in the workplace should be genuinely enforced.

A research study in the Academy of Management in one of the schools here in the Philippines Schools that when a teacher or an employee display exemplary work ethics, it could help prevent division, negative attitude, misunderstanding, professional jealousy and quarrelling in the workplace. Teamwork is being develop and the school/ company is likely to succeed. Job satisfaction is being experienced by all the workers and their school or company becomes a happy place to work in.
