Teaching is a never ending process and can be enhanced through harmonious relationship between management and teacher so there is a need to collaborate, interact, discuss and respect each other. Maintaining positive and healthy relationship between these parties can also affect greatly the achievement of the students.

In order to impress the administrator every individual teacher must always show his preparedness to all his functions like preparing an orderly and organized lesson plans, having a well structured and fixed classrooms, showing love and care to students, and in short, a good follower of the educational system.

For school heads or administrators, it is very important to observe the following tips. They should have a regular visit in their respective school in order to know some problems arising in the school premises. Another is that they should guide and train his teachers to update them on the changing trends. It is also important to give periodic feedback from time to time and reassess situations in the school for some improvements.

Employing transparency is a good attitude of school administrators in order to build trust and avoid rumors and guess-work. Dedication to transparency create a positive working environment or learning community where teachers become inspired while doing the assigned task.

Administrators as the higher authority within his school is important to offer advice, direction and assistance most especially to beginning teachers. They are the mentors, advisers, and leaders who are always ready to improve the working performance of his teachers. Being a leader in his respective school, he should always be aware with the existing problems in order to find solutions whether it is personal or professional.
Building a positive and harmonious relationship between teachers and administrators is also the reality of mission and vision of our educational system and lead to imparting better education to all learners.

In short, teachers and administrators should work as a team and the most important of all trust should always prevail.
