TEACHER’S CHALLENGES

by:
Gregorio B. Castro
Master Teacher I, Bonifacio Camacho National High School

In the midst of the current educational system lies several challenges for teachers. These should be addressed and be faced seriously in order to meet survival and at the same time achieve excellence in the profession.

Coping with the latest trends in teaching is one of the challenges for teachers. Being an educator, you need to make use of the current practices that are considered better in the teaching instructions. Having acquainted with the up-to-date methods in educating the students is truly worthwhile.

Dealing with technology in the classroom setting is another responsibility that teachers must adopt in education. Embrace the benefits and advantages of technology in the transfer of knowledge to our educational clientele.

Convincing the learners to absorb the teachings is the next challenge that teachers must surpass. It is exerting your full energy in persuading the learners to accept and appreciate the value of education as they go along with their daily interactions.

Cooperating with stakeholders is one expected task of a teacher nowadays. It is not solely the school that the teacher must consider but also the entire teaching community which involves the parents and the people in the community.

Adjusting to hectic schedules is an anticipated thing that happens in the current time. Teachers must perform other related duties aside from teaching which make the schedule be filled with activities. Learning time management is what a teacher must consider.
Doing multi-tasks may pertain to perform various interrelated responsibilities in the school. A teacher may be a facilitator, a guidance counselor, an adviser, and a mentor in the school. Performing dynamic and interactive roles are bestowed on teachers.

Growing professionally is another big challenge ahead in being a teacher. Aside from additional knowledge teachers are upgrading professionally to seek for promotion or better position otherwise the teacher will be left behind.

Attending and balancing students’ needs is very significant to realize. The educational needs of the students are highly important to look for because the efficiency and effectiveness of the teaching-learning process will rely on them.

Meeting the expectations of the school administrators, parents and students should be given emphasis in the fulfillment of the tasks as teachers. The eyes and ears of these people are focused on the kind of actions that teachers may demonstrate or manifest.

References:

https://www.classcraft.com/blog/features/3-main-challenges-teachers-face/