THE GLOBAL TEACHER
by Joan M. Dueñas, Master Teacher I
Magsaysay Integrated School
Dinalupihan, Bataan

My standpoint concerning a global teacher is that he/she is a professional that does not only teach the lessons in a by-the-book manner. Thus, he/she incorporates the demands set globally. Global teachers are teachers which teach not just for the students to pass their quizzes and final examinations. They are teachers who prepare students for the world that students will face after graduating from school.

Furthermore, they serve as mentors that prepare individuals in the battle that students will face in real life situations. According to The Guardian, global teaching is used to “give students a global awareness and emphasize the fact that we work in a global market and if students can develop interpersonal relationships with a sense of global citizenry, then they will be successful in all that they do.”

Moreover, he/she aims to develop his/her students to become globally competitive, meaning, no matter where the location or country of the graduate, he/she will be able to cope up and achieve the needs to be hired.

I realized the importance of teachers in global development because of this chapter. Teachers molds generations that are and will be responsible for global evolvement. If only all teachers could be considered as global, for sure, the number of graduates having their titles not matching their careers would be lessened.

Reference:
What is a Global Teacher retrieved from http://www.globalteachereducation.org