“Once you are a teacher, you’re a teacher forever”

Teachers are known to be skillful, creative resourceful and considerate human beings. They are loyal towards the policies of education as well as loyal citizens of a country and definitely are responsible for their acts and decisions.

Being a teacher is very much difficult in terms of work and duties but in spite of all this hardship, they are compensated with the love from their pupils. Teachers work more than 8 hours from the school and when they went home they spend another time preparing lesson plans and instructional materials for tomorrow’s lesson. Their creativity on the learning style they will be using for the next day, keep their mind busy. Teachers do not like to be absent because they are not sure about the little things that will happen in the school. Moist often, they look forward to the welfare of their pupils. The moral spirit of becoming a teacher is always there for their pupils. The smile from the faces of their pupils serves as vitamin from the heart of the teacher keeping them physically young.

They said that teachers are highly experienced, in terms of the challenges to competencies. They are very dedicated on their work. They love their students as if they are really real parents to them. Teachers are always there, even in their sad moments. They supported their students in motherly approach. A mother’s concern for each of their students, keep them dedicated in sharing the high quality of lasting love and friendship between them.

Love that comes from the students is the fruit of their labor which cannot be measured and quantify. Good work for the teachers if they attain an excellent quality profits from the students which is the inventory of values and responses to ethical dilemmas.
Teacher is a public servant, for every success of the student come from the heart and good hand of a TEACHER.
