THE QUALITY TEACHER
by:

Lhoumel D. Alvaro
 Teacher III, A.G. Llamas Elementary School

As many people say, “teaching is the noblest profession in the world”. Many are called to teach, but only few were chosen to become part of the teaching force. Teaching is an art, so therefore teachers are artists that deliver knowledge among learners and act as the facilitator of teaching and learning process.

The Merriam-Webster dictionary can defined the term quality as intended for people who educated and who care about serious matters. It also includes a characteristic or feature that someone has and could be noticed as part of a person. While teacher, according to Linedalile on the article entitled “Invest in Teachers - The Art of Teaching”, defined teachers as the agents of the future fueling students with lifelong passion for learning. It means that quality teacher is the one who has characteristics not common to all and has the abilities to impart lifelong knowledge and skills among his learners.

All teachers can teach and produce graduates, but not all can shape quality graduates and could be considered as effective teachers. It is sad to say that some teachers are only teaching to earn a living. They look teaching as a job and not a vocation. Yes, we need money to have a virtuous life, but it should not be the stimulant for us to teach the way students need learning.
Some are always complaining about salaries and benefits. Some often question their superior about their teaching loads. Some even make gossip while classes are going. Some attend on their classes late and leave their classes early. Others are instructing students to copy the content on their notebook which were written on the module or book. It is such a waste of time. These types of teachers are lazy and should not be on this profession, because they are just wasting the time of the students. Most teachers, especially who come unprepared for the lesson, are coming to scold learners in order consume the time. Their act is not authentic and not helping the learners, they should assess themselves for better teaching strategy.
The quality teacher is the one that makes time for learners to learn. Quality teacher is the one that shares his experience to inspire students to strive for more and never ever give up. This teacher is the one that never leaves a topic without a clear manifestation that every learner acquires concept and principle. This person is the one who doesn’t like to teach, but love to teach. He never sees students and teaching as burden, but challenge him to make teaching more interesting and students learn the happiest way possible.

The quality teacher is the one that is effective, aside from efficient. When can you say that you are an effective teacher? You are effective when you are able to teach the lesson well and get its goals at the end of the period. It also includes doing papers works and added task given to you by your immediate superior. As a whole, an effective teacher is the one that is capable of performing and finishing his tasks on the given time frame while teaching. Above all, an effective teacher is the one that touches the lives of the learners. They are the ones that encourage students to pursue their dreams despite adversities. They are people who give everything for their learners.

Teachers are the masters of their students. The qualities of your outcomes lie on your hands.