The global pandemic that is currently happening today changes the lives of everyone all over the world for more than a year and continuously impacts the way of life which is way different compared to pre-pandemic. The lockdowns and economic impact of this worldwide phenomenon shows a spike on the unemployment rate of overall population that affects the mindset of the working class in order to cope up with the current situation.

Living in a “new normal” requires adjustment in some families especially coming from low-income to middle-income earners. Adjustments such as shifting from digital payment platforms from the usual manner of payment is one of the adjustments that some are getting used to in order to adapt with the changes. People are learning new things and more conscious on how to spend money wisely because of the uncertainties that is happening in the world today.

Significant increase in registration of online businesses during the pandemic shows that some individuals opt to online selling to augment their families’ financial needs. The skills and talent they applied on their business to cope up with the financial crisis especially those who lost their jobs because of pandemic. It is not only helps them to mold their talent but at the same time they have more time with their families. People learn to strategize and apply what they learnt on their previous jobs in order to make their businesses successful.
