Our environment changes rapidly. It changes as if a driver of a F1 Ferrari changes gears. Cellphones, computers and other gadgets fade out so fast, in today and tomorrow will be out of fashion. Even the language that our pupils use, lodi, petmalu, otw, atm etc is a sign of coping up with change,

These changes in technology help us make our work easier. But while technology can bridge the distance between us and our love ones halfway across the globe, it can also build walls between us and our family members sitting next to us at the dining table.

Before kids played blocks or other manipulative toys with the help of their parents, now they play computer games.

Before meals family used to pray, now with the use of cellphone pictures are being taken before eating meals.

Generation of the 80’s visits their friends and relatives having friendly chat. now, just open your Facebook account and friends can communicate even in other parts of the world.

In education, technology really plays a significant role in teaching and learning process. With the help of technology lesson can be delivered with more fun, lesson become more colorful and vivid.

But what is really important in life? What is desirable? What deserves more of our attention?

May we always remember that whatever changes may we not forget respect, love and care for one another.
