Spelling is the forming of words from letters. Everyone is willing to be good in spelling. There are many causes of mistakes in spelling, that is lack of reading, of knowledge in remembering, laziness, and carelessness. Improving one’s spelling is improving oneself. In many instances, spelling could spell one’s success or downfall regardless of your group position.

Spelling is very fundamental in grade level. Pupils were taught and allowed to write on paper, when they began to read. When writing skills subjects were integrated and spelling as one of its factor was not given a formal period, spelling deteriorated from bad to worse. Spelling had a very important and significant place in English language.

Spelling and reading are related such as the relationships between letters and sounds. Knowing the spelling of a word makes it accessible for fluent reading.

There are simple ways to improve oneself in this area:

1. Enroll in a spelling course (if there is any) or get hold of a book that contains rules in spelling and its application.

2. Read some books and magazines.

3. Make and keep a list of words you often misspell. Glance at it or read it once or daily.

4. Practice on your own spelling problem.
5. Proofread all your written pieces and learn to look at the individual letters of the word. If doubtful consult the dictionary.

It is hoped that all educated adult can spell correctly. Spelling could spell one’s success or downfall regardless of your position. Improving one’s spelling is improving oneself.
