VALUING THE WISDOM OF SEASONED TEACHERS

by:
Jelly P. Reyes
Teacher III, Orani South Elementary School

Teachers who are already veteran in school are extremely regarded and respected because of their long and wide experiences in teaching, in dealing with the students and in cooperating with parents.

They are dearly loved by their peers because they are the seasoned teachers, They came from long years of battles and challenges in the teaching field and they successfully hurdled the tests and trials of time concerning their professions.

Seasoned teachers are so admirable because they emanate kindness and calmness in the performance of their job as teachers. Since experiences taught them a lot, they know how to handle the students very and easily face difficult situations in the school.

These teachers are also known for having full of wisdom in performing the teaching vocation, in handling life trials and in making success out of your abilities. They have a bucket list of inspirations and quotations that softens the hearts and stimulates the minds most especially of the young ones.
Seasoned teacher may share time-tested teaching methods, strategies, pedagogies and techniques that they found effective since the time immemorial. Though we have new trends in teaching, there are approaches that are still relevant and applicable to the new breed of learners.

The seasoned teachers are being admired for being broad-minded. They really think broadly and see the two sides of the story. They also decide prudently and use their natural instinct.

The seasoned teachers are overflowing with compassion. They really show their benevolence to their students and peers for they understand them fully and consider them as their children, younger brothers or sisters.

Another distinguishing trait of a seasoned teacher is having long patience. They believe on perfect timing and a thing may come on the right time. Also, they show patience in teaching the learners no matter how fast or slow they may be. The drive to educate always remains.

Indeed, seasoned teachers are worthy of respect and admiration.

References:

https://teacherhead.com/2018/06/02/the-value-of-experience-respect/