WELCOME FIRE

When do people become successful? A famous quote said, “Strike while the iron is hot”. In Science that is also true because when gases, liquids, and solids are heated, they expand. Just like people, when they were so inspired and burning with passion to achieve things, they can own the world. They can achieve and do more.

There are times we tend to just stop and take a rest. There are other people who survive without even trying anyway, so why would I stress myself? But that should not be our response toward such matters. Instead, as we face difficulties, our knowledge and view of things should have broaden and improved not only our insights in life. We must serve as an inspiration.

We should be like the phoenix. It burned itself to live another period. Thus, when life gets tough, we have to welcome it warmly. That is actually an instrument for us to become better people. It is another chance for us to meet new people and to learn new things. It also helped us reflect on our actions.

In teaching, we oftentimes think that we have to put our students on fire so as to sharpen them. We would like to see them go on stage and take the lead free from fear. But then, we cannot push them to go and try unless we are also ready to face the fire on our own.

Indeed, students are encouraged to do things when they can see and feel that the people around them are also strong enough to move forward and take the lead. Let us be an inspiration and welcome life in spite and despite of what may come.
