Everywhere we go, every place we visit we always made sure that we have Internet access. Living nowadays means living as if we are like web sites that need to be visited all the time. We are living in a time, where everything is a click away!

In every establishment, malls, places we go to, it brings joy to our faces if we heard that that place has Wi-Fi. But what is WIFI by the way? Wi-Fi stands for Wireless Fidelity, kind of complicated so let’s just stick to Wi-Fi. This Wi-Fi thing in every place invites people to come in, to dine in, etc. Why do we need Wi-Fi? We all know that being connected to Wi-Fi gives us an Internet connection. And being connected to the Internet, allows us to enjoy and use different websites that are available on the Internet.

Does having Wi-Fi at gatherings a good idea? I don’t so. Sometimes meeting people and being with them loses its essence once there is Wi-Fi nearby. Wi-Fi is not a bad thing; in fact, it helps a lot of people to access the Internet. One must be responsible enough in accessing it and using it appropriately.
