The family today is characterized by materialism, which become the goal of other families and their measure of success. These social changes bring about conflict in values and mores which cause social problems resulting in family conflicts, separation and desertion, abortion, illegitimacy, and loose family ties. The present situation in the Philippines is definitely one of socio–economic insecurities. We have been concerned with the short run costs and benefits for families of technological innovations but we have not looked beyond the problems created by the technological revolution.

We introduce or initiate that will secure the future of the family:

1. Filipino family has to keep pace with the changes brought about by modernization.
2. There is a need to re-examine values and practices.
3. School-home partnership is needed as cited in the child and youth welfare.
4. Management of resources must be done by both husband and wife.
5. Appreciate and understand the cultural family diversity.
6. There is a need to balance between competition and cooperation observing moral and ethical values.
7. Be concerned about the environment, human rights, and democracy.
8. See to it that all theories learned by students are applied in their home through child-parent partnership.

9. Be skilful manager, one who combines traditional management with contemporary leadership skills and characteristics.

So let us make things happen for the future security of the family.
